DENTALJECT®

The Smarter Start to Every Injection.

INTRODUCING

The first no-wait injection protocol.

DentalJect is a pre-injection anesthetic spray that transforms dental injections from a workflow bottleneck into a fast and efficient process. It eliminates the traditional waiting period between application and injection—enhancing efficiency, reducing chair time, and elevating patient comfort.

Even the best injection technique doesn't always prevent the sting and pain caused by the pressure of the local anesthetic entering the tissue. DentalJect's cooling topical spray works instantly to block pain receptors—especially in difficult injection sites like the palatal area—in under 2 seconds.

DentalJect improves what happens before the injection—so every injection starts better.

Pre-Injection Anesthetic Spray

How DentalJect enhances your practice.

The Hidden Cost of Painful Injections.

Pain and fear don't just affect the patient experience—they impact your entire practice. Dentists experience only a 30% recall rate in part due to patient fear and anxiety. DentalJect changes all this, resulting in meaningful practice improvements including:

- › More comfortable injections—especially in palatal tissue
Ensures happier patients and improved recall
- › Less time between application and injection
Provides better workflow and reduced chair time
- › A better, modern approach
Delivers clear differentiation for your practice

25% of adults and 75% of children have a fear of injections.

Fear is the primary driver of missed appointments.

Fast. Simple. And super effective.

DentalJect rapidly cools the mucosa at the injection site, blocking pain and pressure receptors instantly. No waiting. No delay. No disruption to your workflow. More comfortable injections—especially in traditionally sensitive areas like palatal tissue—can reduce resistance at the critical moment, improve patient perception, and build greater trust in treatment.

Easy as 1-2-3!

A better workflow. A stronger practice.

Save time. Increase efficiency.

Without the wait time of traditional topical anesthetics, DentalJect helps clinicians move from prep to injection faster—streamlining workflow and reducing unnecessary chairtime.

Increase productivity without adding complexity.

A more efficient workflow can help reduce total procedure time, support more consistent scheduling, and create capacity for greater productivity—without changing the way your team works.

Strengthen patient perception and practice growth.

A better injection experience can positively influence how patients feel about treatment—and how they talk about your practice afterward. That can mean stronger trust, better compliance, more referrals, and patient experiences that support long-term growth.

Create a more scalable, repeatable workflow.

DentalJect helps simplify a traditionally disruptive step in the appointment, making it easier to create a more consistent, repeatable process across procedures and patients.
